

Working in an internationally-recognised agency

Eliza • Account Manager

I have been part of the Porterhouse family for just over a year now and I can honestly say it is a truly extraordinary place to work. Over the last few years, and particularly during my time here, it has continued to grow rapidly, but the support and encouragement has never diminished or faltered. Despite the growing number of staff, the intimacy and sense of fun are still evident and this is what I enjoy most about the company.

We are all very proud to have won the Queen's Award for our business in International Trade; every day, we relish the prospects and opportunities provided by working with companies outside the UK. Being immersed in different cultures and learning how companies operate across the globe makes work at Porterhouse even more interesting and diverse. We may have to hold the odd teleconference late at night, but it is certainly worth it to provide support to our global clients and see our projects run smoothly.

I am very proud to say that I am part of the award-winning team here at Porterhouse and I am looking forward to celebrating its continued success!
